

Biography:

Katherina Stanzel, Deputy Managing Director, INTERTANKO

- marine ecologist by training,
- worked on fisheries, marine park and environmental impact assessment projects in the Indian Ocean, Asia and Australasia, before entering the world of shipping in the late 90ies.
- spent 10 years with the International Tanker Owners Pollution Federation (ITOPF) focussed on ship-source pollution incidents,
- during that time provided technical advice, training and guidance to responders, experts and scientists during oil and chemical spills worldwide.

- then joined the International Oil Pollution Compensation Funds (IOPC) where she provided technical and scientific expertise to the Director and acted as claims manager and Deputy for the Head of the Claims Department.

- In November 2010, joined INTERTANKO as Deputy Managing Director

responsible for strategic work and external advocacy plans, budgeting and day to day financial management as well as liaison with members, governments and administrations in Europe

