

Biography:

Andy Lang BSc, Gloabal Lead Consultant, Petrofac

- Graduated from Plymouth University in Ocean Science and Fisheries Biology
- Joined Briggs Environmental Services as an oil spill contingency planner in 1996
- Became part of the Briggs oil spill response team responding to spills onshore, offshore and in ports and harbours
- Travelled extensively (South America, Sudan, Azerbaijan, Brunei) delivering exercises, training and writing plans
- After 7 years moved to Petrofac Training Services joining as a Project Manager. Focused of Emergency Response and Crisis Management in the Oil and Gas industry
- Focused on delivering exercises averaging 150 per year including being part of the planning team for the last two offshore oil and gas National Exercises.
- Responsible for leading a dedicated team in the delivery of Oil Pollution Emergency Plans, training and undertaking readiness review audits.
- Emergency Coordinator for the Petrofac Emergency Response Service Centre supporting offshore installations in the North Sea in the event of an incident.
- Travelled extensively supporting client needs internationally as well as Petrofac global operations.
- After 8 years with Petrofac recently promoted to Global Lead Consultant with the remit of expanding services to our international clients.

